Homework

TIPS FOR PARENTS

Homework

Can my child do homework?

Homework can be a good learning opportunity for children. However, homework is not the only source of learning. It is important to assess the types of homework that are assigned and the amount of time that is spent on homework. Children should have time for play, exercise, and relaxation. It is also important to consider the child's age and abilities. Homework that is too difficult or too time-consuming can be frustrating for children. It is important to ensure that homework is challenging but not overwhelming. It is also important to encourage children to take breaks and to set realistic goals for themselves. Homework should be a positive and rewarding experience for children. It is important to provide support and guidance to children as they work on homework. This will help children develop good study habits and increase their confidence in their abilities. It is also important to ensure that children have access to the resources they need to complete homework. This might include books, computers, and other materials. It is important to make sure that children have a quiet and comfortable place to work. It is also important to set a routine for homework, so that children know when it is time to start and when it is time to finish. It is important to be patient and understanding with children as they work on homework. It is also important to be encouraging and positive. It is important to provide feedback and encouragement to children as they work on homework. This will help children develop good study habits and increase their confidence in their abilities. It is also important to set realistic goals for children. It is important to make sure that children have access to the resources they need to complete homework. This might include books, computers, and other materials. It is important to make sure that children have a quiet and comfortable place to work. It is also important to set a routine for homework, so that children know when it is time to start and when it is time to finish. It is important to be patient and understanding with children as they work on homework. It is also important to be encouraging and positive. It is important to provide feedback and encouragement to children as they work on homework. This will help children develop good study habits and increase their confidence in their abilities.
Homework

- People for Education is an independent parents' group working to support public education in Ontario's English, French and Catholic schools.

You can reach us at:
P.O. Box 64, Station P, Toronto, Ontario, M5S 2S6
Phone: 416-534-0100 • fax: 416-536-0100 • email: info@peopleforeducation.com or visit:

www.peopleforeducation.com