

People for Education is a small team with big ambition, and we are looking for a team member that can help us reach our goals. We are nimble, and staff wear many hats, so you need to have the creativity and enthusiasm to find gaps and fill them. Are you organized? Do you have multiple talents? Do you like fundraising? Events? Website content and admin? IT? Graphic design?

The ideal candidate is engaged, enthusiastic, and ready to hit the ground running. You have lots of skills – technical, organizational, collegial – and the desire to put them to work. If you can thrive in a fast-paced, open environment, can speak up with confidence, are open to pitching in where needed, and can work both independently and collaboratively, we need your passion and energy for our great cause.

For 20 years People for Education has worked to make public education live up to its promise for all Canadians. We are a charitable organization that advocates to protect and value public education knowing it is the fuel for a stronger, better, more prosperous Canada.

We love what we do at People for Education and we are proud of the difference we make. Do you want to make a tangible difference and impact the future of Canada? If so – we want to meet you.

To apply, please submit a resume and a letter that describes – in detail – how you fit this posting to info@peopleforeducation.ca. Tell us why you want to work for an organization that supports the ideal that a thriving public education system equals a better country, and how you can make a difference with your skills and passion.

Our goal is to find the right person. If this posting is still up, we are still looking.
