

Collaborating

Effective collaborators are able to solve conflict, take feedback, and develop constructive relationships.

With these skills students become collaborators who can take on different roles and make a positive impact in any team environment.

Examples of student outcomes

Students will:

- Develop productive coping, problem-solving and resilience skills to overcome stressful and challenging situations.
- Examine problems from others' perspectives.
- Develop skills to recognize, understand, and address/resolve interpersonal conflict.
- Demonstrate respect and recognize its importance.
- Develop leadership skills.
- Integrate ideas and feedback offered by others.
- Cooperate with others.
- Include others in activities.
- Build and maintain trust in themselves and others.
- Adapt to the mood of a group and respond constructively.
- Engage in cooperative learning, and work toward group goals.

The New Basics

The categories and competencies in the New Basics evolved from existing research, feedback from teachers, principals and parents, and People for Education's Measuring What Matters initiative.

- Learning to learn
- Thinking creatively and critically
- Collaborating
- Communicating effectively
- Developing a sense of self and society

