

The Pan-Canadian Youth Network

People for Education wants to build demand for reimagining public education. To be truly effective, this work requires a network of young people with a diverse range of passions, experiences, and perspectives from across Canada.

The Pan-Canadian Youth Network will strive to increase opportunities for intergenerational collaboration in building a better future for public education.

What will the youth network do?

- Provide feedback on PFE's projects, events, and publications.
- Participate in brainstorming meetings with a pan-Canadian network of sector leaders.
- Share your diverse lived experiences to bring new ideas on how to connect public education to broader social and economic issues.
- Increase awareness about the issues impacting your community.
- Spread the word about PFE's initiatives to your network.

How it works:

1. Fill out the online application - it should only take about 10 minutes!
2. The PFE team will reach out after reviewing your application.
3. Upon joining the Network, you will begin to receive communications about how and when you can get involved.

What is the commitment?

You can choose how you want to participate.

Informed:

Get updates on initiatives, report releases, and media campaigns.

Engaged:

Provide feedback on PFE's projects, events, and publications.

Invested:

Attend virtual bi-monthly problem-solving and brainstorming sessions.

Am I eligible?

You are invited to apply to the Youth Network if you:

- Are 15-29 years old
- Live in Canada
- Can commit to a one-year term (with possibility for future renewal)
- Are passionate about reimagining public education by collaborating with a range of generations and sectors

What are the benefits?

- Experience in policy, research, and communications
- Networking opportunities with an incredible range of youth from across Canada, professionals, experts, and sector leaders
- Opportunities to participate in workshops, events, and internships.
- Volunteer hours
- Recognition for your time via cash honoraria (activity-dependent)
- Professional references

Applications NOW OPEN until April 28, 2023!